1. Why are there so many holds on popular titles?
2. Why is there not the same title selection on Overdrive as in the physical library?

It is very common for the library to be forced to pay many times more for an e-book or e-audiobook than for their physical equivalent, or the price you see as an individual.

Typically, these prices range from $48 to $90 for one e-book and from $60 to $110 for one e-audiobooks, 3 to 5 times than the prices libraries normally see for their physical purchases.

Though we are extremely limited to what we can buy because of these incredibly high prices, we continue to work every day to identify new titles and very popular titles to meet your increasing interest in electronic material.

If you have any questions or would like to know how you could contribute to purchase electronic material, please contact me.
